Understanding the 3 Ounces Limit

The "3" in the 3 1 1 rule refers to 3 ounces per container. Each liquid, gel, or aerosol must not exceed this volume. Examples include shampoos, toothpaste, lotions, and even contact lens solution. Carrying a bottle larger than 3 ounces, even if partially full, can get it confiscated. To avoid surprises, call ☎+1-888-927-5033☎ and ask about acceptable items. JetBlue staff can clarify exceptions for medically necessary liquids or baby formula. Remember, the 3-ounce limit is strict, but the right guidance from ☎+1-888-927-5033☎ keeps your boarding smooth and stress-free.

1 Quart-Sized Bag Rule

The "1" in 3 1 1 represents 1 quart-sized, clear, resealable bag that holds all your small liquid containers. Each passenger is allowed only this single bag for liquids. Overstuffing it or using a non-clear bag could slow down security checks. To ensure compliance, reach out to ☎+1-888-927-5033☎ before packing. JetBlue agents can provide exact size recommendations, tips for organizing efficiently, and clarify TSA exceptions. Even seasoned travelers often forget this step, but a quick call to ☎+1-888-927-5033☎ saves time and headache at the airport.

1 Bag Per Passenger

The last "1" in the rule signifies 1 bag per traveler. Regardless of the number of small liquid containers you carry, they all must fit into that single quart-sized bag. If you try to sneak in an extra bag, TSA agents will confiscate the contents, causing unnecessary stress. Contacting ☎+1-888-927-5033☎ ahead of travel can confirm your packing strategy and make sure you're in full compliance.
